ZETA

Mario Botta, 2025

The Zeta stool recalls the letter from which it takes its name: two square elements, serving as base and seat, are joined by a diagonal element secured by a comb joint at each end. Two diagonal leaves merge with this element, helping to strengthen its structure and giving the design a dynamic and rigorous balance. The result is an object with a strong graphic impact and a distinctive design, an expression of the formal research of Botta, focused on the relationship between horizontal and oblique lines.

Made of mass-coloured MDF, the stool is offered in both a monochrome version and in a polychrome version, echoing the use of natural materials and the contrast between light and shadow typical of the poetics of Botta.
